JotDown is an automatic note keeper, reminder tool, to-do list, and personal organizer. It's a small, transparent application that quickly allows you to add notes, to-do lists, and reminders to a simple text-only pad window on your desktop. You can then access them easily by opening the desktop window, minimizing the JotDown window to the system tray, or by using the optional shortcut icon on your desktop. JotDown is useful for jotting down simple reminders, tasks, and notes. It keeps them in a single window, while allowing you to maintain complete control over the content. When you open the pad to work on something, JotDown will immediately jump to the last note, and then it's very easy to just type in or highlight a new note, to-do list, or reminder. JotDown supports multiple pads in order to save you time. You can easily switch between your various to-do lists and not forget to do them. JotDown features include - Add a new note - Add a new to-do list - Add a new reminder - Select a reminder from the list - Select a note from the list - Select a to-do list from the list - Select a new pad to use - Access the notes, to-do lists, and reminders in your notes by opening the desktop window - Minimize JotDown and access the notes, to-do lists, and reminders in your notes by minimizing to the system tray - Add a short cut to JotDown on your desktop (optional) - Print, or create an e-mail version of a to-do list / reminder - Set the background color for the pad window (optional) - Customize the font and colors (optional) - Access a list of other JotDown add-ons. This list of add-ons is updated regularly and is in the JotDown preferences (optional). - Add-ons feature a new pad, to-do list, and reminder

(optional) The title for the add-ons is the same as the title used for the corresponding JotDown item (i.e. the title for the pad is "Notes")

Welcome to the Home - New Member - Sponsored I got Windows XP on this computer. I was looking for a program that could help with my wireless net connection. I noticed that in JotDown, you have a jumbo pad there. I want to be able to work on a lot of information at the same time. Does this app do that? It seems like it may be a good thing. Thanks in advance. You can search the text easily and also add notes with date and time. Very nice, very nice. Thanks a lot. The dimensions of the notebook screen are reasonable. It doesn't seem to be too big. The print button is also nice. In addition, it allows you to add notes in tags by selecting the tags given. A very powerful facility. I like the fact that it doesn't need a download. You don't have to download anything to use it. It is also in a very good location. I feel that I'm going to have a lot of fun using JotDown.
