Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an image processing method for displaying a moving image, and a video processing system in which a moving image is stored therein. 2. Description of the Related Art In recent years, the processing speed of moving image recording devices such as video cameras and video camcorders is becoming faster. A moving image having a single scene composed of a series of images is recorded on a recording medium such as a tape, a magnetic disk, or a semiconductor memory, as a single file. These recording mediums are small-sized, and therefore, recording of a moving image can be easily performed. On the other hand, after recording a moving image, the user is required to view the recorded moving image in many cases. In the above-mentioned recording medium, however, there are many cases where information as to where and when the moving image is recorded is written in the moving image file in

A SPY Kit Diagram is a graphical representation of a spy machine, which is a complete device used for monitoring things over a distance. An eye can gather a lot of data, including the image, the sound and even a person's thoughts. A spy kit is a collection of tools used to gather, archive and analyze this information. Here are some of the gadgets that you can carry with you to spy on someone for hours. Wired Cuckoo Clock Spy Kit The wired Cuckoo clock is an analogue digital monitoring and recording device that can be used to intercept and monitor telephone calls, computer or other equipment using a single cable. It works by using a standard office telephone and microphone to listen in on the conversation, capturing everything that's being said, and sends the recorded information back to the computer via a single Cat 5e/6 cable. The digital recording system can record voice conversations and send them back to the computer for analysis, while a visual display shows the date and time that the recording was made. With the help of this digital recording system, you can get an unlimited number of recordings from one single device. Bluetooth Spy Kit The Bluetooth wireless sensor is a small device that can monitor, identify and record nearby person's conversations within a maximum range of approximately 25 meters. It can send an unlimited number of messages back to your computer once a connection is established. It can take several security measures to ensure the highest level of security possible. It connects to a Bluetooth-enabled computer or laptop wirelessly via a simple command. It is less reliable than the Wired Cuckoo Clock Spy Kit, as it is less precise in its recording and analysis. Voice Decryption Spy Kit This device can encrypt any calls sent by the telephone's other device (such as a mobile phone), which prevents eavesdroppers from listening in on a call. It can also prevent people from hearing the person on the other end of the line while you're talking with them. It is ideal for people who need to avoid being spied on by the government. It sends a unique, one-time password to each phone that connects to 09e8f5149f
