Some Issues with the Netscape Plugin API For instance, the QueryInterface call for Netscape's Plugin class returns an object representing the Plugin's main window rather than an NPWindow instance. This would be a bug if your app uses NPWindow to implement a window-like interface, but would not cause any actual problems. Similarly, Netscape's PlugIn class has a number of constructors that take the NPWindow subclass as a parameter. This is less useful than it sounds because the plugin "document" contains the window object in its window property. This is a convenience because the document object is generic for any window-implementing class.-0.67(-1.15%) -6.60(-0.50%) -0.24(-1.58%) -0.00(-0.05%)
Microsoft patents device that talks to PC Microsoft has patented a system of wireless "agile speakers" which enable audio to "flow wirelessly from the PC to the device [and] back again." As shown in the illustration above, the system includes a pair of speakers, and a docking station which can be connected to a Microsoft Surface with Windows 8, Windows RT or Windows Phone 8. The device was patented last year. What's interesting about the patent is d0c515b9f4 the debut of the new Mercedes-Benz C-Class Coupe in Frankfurt-am-Main DAIMLER, the pioneering German automobile manufacturer, celebrates its 70th anniversary this year and marks this special anniversary with the long-awaited world premiere of the new Smart Fortwo and the new Mercedes-Benz C-Class Coupe. Having created the foundation for the worldwide premium small car industry with its groundbreaking Saloon from 1948, the brand now introduces the Smart Fortwo and the C-Class Coupe in Europe to meet new customer requirements for fuel economy and CO2 emissions. The Smart Fortwo, which will be on display at the IAA Commercial Vehicles in Hamburg from today, and the C-Class Coupe, which will be exhibited in Amsterdam from 14 September, are the first of many potential products to follow. "It's an enormous honour for us to be celebrating our 70th anniversary in this way," said Prof. Dr. Dr. Martin Whitaker, member of the board of management of Daimler AG. "Our share of the premium small car sector now has more than one-third of the market in Germany, and is steadily growing year-on-year. Our passion for innovation is the key to our success, as it was when we created the first modern motor car 70 years ago. "The Smart Fortwo and the C-Class Coupe are the latest example of our legacy of innovation. They are connected to our philosophy of challenging the status quo as we seek to make the world a better place." "With the Smart Fortwo and the C-Class Coupe, we're setting a new benchmark in the premium small car segment in Europe. We'd like to thank
