The API has a programming language called AutoLISP, which is similar to the LISP programming language. AutoLISP, along with Visual LISP, is an integral part of AutoCAD. This mod is best used on a PC using Windows 10 (with admin rights), running with at least 1.6ghz processor. You can use the mod on more powerful computers, but I'd recommend saving some power with lower settings. This mod also needs to be uninstalled if you're installing in sub-drive. This is so that you can install mods and also so that you can move files between the main drive and the sub-drive. It is also worth noting that this mod will increase your total RAM usage. If you have some existing mods
