For the purpose of constructing a working disability index, in a prospective study the relationship between the objective and the subjective hearing thresholds in 28 subjects was analysed. The agreement between the objective and the subjective threshold measurements was estimated using a traditional method, the mean of all observations and a generalized ANOVA-procedure. The mean of all observations overestimates the degree of hearing loss. The best correlation was achieved when the most severe hearing loss was regarded as the most disabling impairment. These results are explained by the fact that the hearing threshold at the higher frequencies is the most variable according to the everyday life conditions of the

"when we look at a casino, we must examine it to determine whether the evidence of a particular gambling activity is sufficient, independent of the 60 No. 12-3764 allegation of that activity, to establish the defendant's knowledge of that activity," but also instructed the jury that they could consider the "entirety of the evidence" in their deliberation). D. Finally, Wiseman contends that the district court erred by allowing evidence relating to the police's theory that he employed a so-called "theater operation" to launder money that was stolen from him. The police uncovered evidence in Wiseman's home that he had run a large operation selling drugs. They recognized that the operation had a high cash flow and suspected that Wiseman was hiding the proceeds. The police found receipts from business that Wiseman had told them he had owned. The cash was in ziploc bags and was hidden in a special compactor that held only bills. The police
