I am using the CodeIgniter framework with PHP. I have a URL in the href Click here When I click on the link, it fires a query in the database and saves $user as it is. What I want to do is instead of having to put in $user into the URL, I want it to be dynamic so it will be something like: Click here I've tried doing this: ">Click here But this doesn't work, how do I go about doing this? A: Put it in a variable first $url = ".$domain; Then set the href attribute to your variable Click here You could use basename to remove the index.php and the domain too ">Click here And finally to get rid of your codeigniter data base query ">Click here Q: Why do "sources" and "targets" in the OFBiz source/target mechanism behave differently? I am developing a new OFB
