Wi-Fi Password Key Generator is a software tool developed specifically to help individuals generate passwords for their wireless modems or routers, be they WEP or WPA(2). The installation process offer to add a third-party products, which the program does not require in order to work properly. If you want to bypass the installation, you should know there is also a portable version you can use, Wi-Fi Password Key Generator Portable. The interface boasts a minimal and intuitive design, and it is comprised only of a few buttons and panels. This means that all user categories can find their way around it, even those with little or no experience whatsoever with computers. Besides using the wireless security type (WEP, WPA/WPA2), this software utility also enables you to choose the passkey's strength, with the help of a drop-down menu. To be more exact, you can control their length (WEP - 5, 13, 16, 29 characters, while WPA - 8, 20, 63 characters). Once all these parameters have been set, you just have to click the "Generate Wi-Fi Key" button. The results will come up in a matter of seconds, and you will be able to view both the HEX and ASCII encoding schemes. Copying them to the Clipboard is possible and thus, you can easily keep them safe in a custom file. Response time is good, while CPU and memory usage is kept to a low level at all times. This means your computer's performance will not be hindered. Help contents are provided online, and they happen to be quite extensive. Taking all of this into consideration, it is safe to say that Wi-Fi Password Key Generator proves to be an efficient piece of software and a good choice when it comes to password generators.Q: Broken mountpoint after unmounting it I had mounted a samba share from a different location to ~/SDC. After unmounting it, my samba share appears to be broken, and is therefore still mounted. Anyone knows how to get it working again? A: Try running the following command sudo mkdir -p /media/NewLocation && sudo mount --bind ~/SDC /media/NewLocation -o username=TestUser,uid=TestUser,gid=TestGroup The first part creates the directory so that you can place the files for the bind mount and
