What's New In AutoCAD?

How do you use the Markup Import feature? If you are creating print documents, you can import printed material into AutoCAD, mark up your drawings and incorporate comments into your drawing. Markup Import automatically identifies the comments you've made in the document, and adds them to the drawing. Changes you make are automatically incorporated into your drawing, saving you time. With Markup Assist, create workflows to collect comments and feedback. When you're done, you can go back to your drawing, merge, annotate and more, without leaving the drawing window. (video: 1:33 min.) Markup Assist: Easily create a new tool that's more than just a button. You'll start to see that as more people start using it, it becomes a real user option. I have been using it for a while. It is now fully official. So you want to know what that means? (The on screen tutorial is a MUST see.) ... We have taken the design of the window and the top of the menu bar and created something that is much more fitting for today's market. We want to give you options for different ways to use your menus. That's why we've created Markup Assist and Markup Import. (video: 1:33 min.) Redesign Favorites You can now add, edit, and remove folders from the Favorite Window. Save drawing templates (also known as templates or stencils) on your computer and use them to create new drawing templates quickly. Now you can use them as default templates, or download and save them as favorites. Use the Default Template feature to create multiple drawings with the same template. Now you can use a new feature to save the same drawing with a different name and add the template to a Favorite Folder, so you can easily access the saved drawing later. You can now manage your Favorite Folders (or Favorites) in the Default Template File Manager. Better Layout Get three classic button layouts that you can use in the Windows, Menu and Toolbars. Now you have more space to add items, and more buttons to choose from. You can also display 2, 3 or 4 Favorites (or tools) on the main menu bar of your screen, or choose to not display them
