
Cerberus Anti Theft Crack ~REPACK~ed Apk

back when the device recovery and locking app canceled the free lifetime subscriptions, it was quick to assure that paid licenses are not affected, but it appears that this was just a temporary exemption. over the last days, a few customers have taken to the cerebus support forum to report that they've received emails telling them that their paid lifetime licenses were expiring soon. others haven't even gotten those messages and only noticed that their access to the service suddenly had an expiration date in the cerberus app settings. it's likely that many more people won't realize that their licenses are revoked until they need the service to find and lock their phones. but for all of its ease of use and sophistication, cerberus is still a bit of an unknown entity in the world of rats. a few years ago, very few people even knew what a rat was. as a result, cerberus was largely ignored by hackers and wasnt featured in many tutorials. but as of late, cerberus has gained a bit of notoriety among those with a hacking bent. it's worth noting that cerberus doesnt work if you're device is rooted (even with a rootkit installed). however, it does work if you're rooted. so if you're considering rooting your device, you're better off using cerberus, at least for a little while. once its out of warranty, you'll have to wait for a new device. if you're interested in learning more about cerberus, make sure to check out the cerberus website. you can also check out the cerberus forums, or even the download page for instructions on how to download and use cerberus.
