Google Drive also offers the ability to back up multiple devices using one account at the same time. This requires that your devices are signed into the same Google Account. If you have multiple devices, it is likely that you will want to back up only some of your data. To back up an individual device, you can sign into Google Drive with the device, select the device and then click the Backup button. You can select all of your photos, documents, and other data and storage space and back it up to your Google account. To restore the data on one of your devices or wipe your device clean, you can then sign in to the same Google account and select Restore. Make sure that you sign out of the Google account before activating the restored device. If you choose to back up your device to your computer, you can access the backup files from a Web browser. The full backup file name will include the date and time the backup took place. You can make a full backup using the Chrome browser on the computer. If you connect your device, it will automatically begin the backup process and then close the browser window. From the Backup section of your Settings menu, you can select Backup & Sync. These features are included in the next section. You can back up individual apps, photos or contacts. Select the files to back up from the menu and then click the Back up button to start the backup process. Your device will display its current battery life and charging status.
