In the vast majority of situations, the easiest and most reliable method for sharing information among business associates is by sending an email. However, as the number of associates grow so does the number of emails required to pass information. This can easily become a time consuming process, especially if you have to remember to create multiple attachments. When you are ready to share information, there is a simpler, quicker, and more efficient way that can save a great deal of time. SciDoc is an open-source file format, a document markup language. It consists of a collection of extensions and general tags that describe a document. A document can be created with one of these tags and then converted into a more widely used format, such as HTML or Microsoft Word. SciDoc is used by software engineers to store and share documents in a structured and organized manner. Instead of using an enormous number of attachments, you can use a single SciDoc file to present a business report, a document or even a complex formula.
