I want to set'swapMark' to'swapMark' -1 each time an ajax call completes and set'swapMark' to'swapMark' +1 each time an ajax call fails. Here's the data I'm sending with my request

```
{"swapMarks":[{"CURRENT":1},{"CURRENT":-1},{"CURRENT":1},{"CURRENT":-1},{"CURRENT":1}]} Here is my attempt at a function that sets the model. $scope.updateMark = function(index, value) { var currentMark = $scope.swapMarks[index].CURRENT; if (value) { currentMark++; } else { currentMark--; } $scope.swapMarks[index].CURRENT = currentMark; }
```

All of this is being done in a directive, which is bound to my main.html file. Thanks for any suggestions. A: You can write a factory to manage your API calls: app
